COURSE ASSIGNMENTS:
Reading Assignments
   Readings for History G170 will generally include a college-level survey textbook, a collection of separate readings, and a book-length primary source for the first semester of U.S. History. The survey textbook will serve as a secondary source and as a supplement to course lectures. The collection of separate readings will serve as analysis of primary source documents and comprehension of historical argument/theory. The book-length primary source will serve as extended analysis and a research paper assignment in the context of the assigned readings or other secondary source background.

Out-of-class Assignments
   Required readings from primary and secondary sources, exercises, and written responses as required by the instructor.

   The take-home research paper will assess the students’ ability to analyze a book-length primary source, formulate historical questions, acquire information concerning the historical time and place, and to report on historical implications. The instructor will choose a book-length primary source from the section Optional Textbooks in this course outline and assign an in-depth document analysis/research paper of approximately 6-8 pages/1,800-2,500 words.

Writing Assignments
   Objective multiple-choice tests: the multiple choice tests will assess the students’ historical comprehension of the course lectures and secondary source readings.

   Short essay exams and class assignments: the short essay exams will assess the students’ analysis of historical people, events, ideas, and issues and their interpretation of historical primary sources. Students will be directed to focus on the analysis of historical significance rather than the memorization of historical facts.

   Blue-book essay examinations and research paper: the in-class blue-book essay examinations will assess the students’ ability to take a stance on a controversial question/issue in American History and to formulate a cogent historical argument corroborated by concrete historical evidence and primary sources. The take-home research paper will assess the students’ ability to analyze a book-length primary source, formulate historical questions, acquire information concerning the historical time and place, and to report on historical implications.
