PROGRAM LEVEL LEARNING OUTCOME(S) Supported by this course:

support thesis statements with different types of proof: logic, anecdote, textual interpretation, research.

compose essays of various lengths, up to ten pages, that are guided by thesis statements.

COURSE LEVEL STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOME(S) Supported by this course:

2. Identify, evaluate, and select research material relevant to a well-defined topic, and properly compile this material into a claim-based research paper using MLA format.

3. Evaluate published texts and individual and collaborative writing by applying critical and analytical reading strategies.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

I Writing
I.1. Develop and control a thesis statement in papers of varying lengths (500-750 words, 750-1000 words or 1000-2000 words) both in class and out of class, including timed in class essays
I.2. Narrow a broad topic to a workable topic and then write a thesis (controlling idea) about that topic
I.3. Develop varied strategies for generating, drafting and revising essays
I.4. Develop the thesis in an appropriately structured essay, using specific, factual, and detailed support paragraphs
I.5. Maintain logical order in ideas and paragraphs

II Reading
II.1. Apply the principles of analytical reading to evaluating published texts as well as to their own writing and the writing of peers
II.2. Engage in understanding primarily non-fiction college level texts on the literal level: topic, main ideas, supporting details
II.3. Use critical and analytical reading strategies such as annotate text and identify structure of text; apply principles of inductive and deductive reasoning; recognize inference, judgment, conclusions, and bias; evaluate arguments: value conflicts, assumptions, evidence, fallacies, denotative and connotative language, facts vs. opinions; recognize and analyze figurative language; recognize and describe irony and tone
II.4. Improve comprehension and retention abilities
II.5. Improve outlining and note-taking skills related to reading

III Research
III.1. Develop an independent research project through planning, writing, revising, editing, and completing a research paper on an appropriate topic as well
III.2. Use resources including the library and the Internet
III.3. Locate, evaluate and select appropriate research
III.4. Progress through the research project on a step-by-step basis
III.5. Integrate, acknowledge and cite all sources correctly according to current MLA documentation system
III.6. Compose so that the evidence supports an argumentative thesis
III.7. Integrate the ideas of others through paraphrasing, summarizing, and quoting without plagiarism.

IV Rhetoric
IV.1. Learn to use a variety of the following rhetorical methods and discourse modes in writing: definition, comparison/contrast, narrative, description, analysis, cause/effect, and classification; evaluation, proposal, argument
IV.2. Choose the appropriate rhetorical method or discourse methods for an assigned topic and write papers employing one or more of these methods
IV.3. Write arguments, both documented and undocumented IV.4. Employ valid reasoning and avoid fallacies
IV.5. Base arguments on facts and the reliable evidence
IV.6. Be sensitive to audience in terms of tone and content
